V A2 B4 DEVASIACHAN

Though he was brought up in an agricultural family he did not have much interest in farming. Hence, he shifted from his ancestral home at Kunnakkattu to Kavala which is now the central junction where now stands the multi storied buildings owned by his sons. Initially he was involved in bringing down auctioned vehicles from the military cantonment, Bangalore, and selling them. In addition, he started dismantling such vehicles and sold the parts as second hand parts. Later he shifted to hardware and scrap iron business and hence was popularly known as hardware Devasiachen. Though he was circled by very unfriendly or even hostile rivals he never tried to get anything by trickery or treachery. Business for him was not to wangle or amass wealth. Instead he amazed his competitors by prospering through prudence and assiduous work. He was very respected by the business community of Kavala and the surrounding areas.

He married Tharthiamma (Thresiamma) of Kunnamkerikalam family in Pallikottur in Kuttanad. Eight children were born from their nuptial bliss (including the deceased M.S. Varghese who was called by Sunny by his siblings). Bringing up the eight children was never easy for them. But they took up this arduous task with faith in God. They believed that the real wealth that they could give their children was good education and sound moral values based on Christian principles which they did in earnest.

To commemorate his name, a rolling trophy was instituted for the outstanding worker of the Balayogam by his wife Thresiamma. After the Balayogam ceased to exist the trophy is now given to the Kudumbayogam champion.

They left for their heavenly abode on 19th January 1974 and 24th October 1995 respectively.

V A2 B5 PHILIPOSE

Resided at Kunnakkattu, south side of Parel Church. He was an expert farmer. He showed keen interest in the Kudumbayogam activities. Married Thresiamma, daughter of Thomaskutty, Kadamthodu family. Children: Two sons and three daughters. He expired on 18.7.1991 and Thresiamma on 18.1.2009.

V A2 B6 MATHAICHAN

V A3 B2 M.J. SCARIA (Kariachen)

Lived near the Marattukalam bazar, Changanacherry. He ran a provision store in his own building at Kavala. Another means of earning was the rent received from the buildings he rented out. He was morally upright, strict and impartial in dealings. By all means, he was a model businessman. He has been well known as a mediator who settled problems and disputes amicably. Thus he earned the respect of all irrespective of caste or creed. Married Annamma, daughter of Devasia, Thottasseril family. Children: Five sons and seven daughters. He passed away on 10.10.1983. Annamma expired on 12.1.1992.

V A3 B3 f ROSAMMA

Given in marriage to Kanikkattu family, Mithrakkeri.

V A3 B4 Fr. CHACKO, S.J.

Fr. Chacko, through his love, dedicated service, blameless character lived his religious life to the full in the Jesuit Order. He was born in 1913 as the last child of Joseph and Mary. The parents saw to it that their children grew up God-fearing. The premature demise of his father was felt greatly in the family. As the older brothers lived an exemplary family life, they took Chacko under their care and he grew up in good Christian atmosphere.

From his early days, Chackochan was gentle and pleasant. He was always loving and friendly to everyone around him. These virtues in him made others like him and enabled him to live a fruitful religious life. Being good at studies, he grew up a promising child of the family. His brothers wanted him to study further but God had other plans in store for him. After his intermediate at S.B. College, Changanacherry, he went to Kottayam seminary to confirm his religious vocation. Thereafter he joined the Madura Province of the Jesuits to pursue seminary studies for his priesthood.

After seven years of rigorous study and training at Chempakannur, Regency at St. Xaviers' at Palayamkotta and four years of theological studies at St. Marys' Kurziyong, he was ordained priest. A part of his life was spent at major seminaries like St. John's Trichy, St. Joseph's Allahabad and Sacred Heart Chempakannur as Professor, Rector and spiritual father to aspirants. Only in 1965 he was able to come to Kerala where he was acting Provincial for some time. From 1973 to 1975 he was the spiritual fellow at Layola College, Thiruvananthapuram. From 1975 to 1978 he served as the Superior of the Jesuits' house at Kanjirappally. The rest of his life he led at St. Xavier's, Thiruvananthapuram in prayer and studies.

His fair and rounded face with the snow white beard and the moderately big build was the embodiment of patience, wisdom, love and simplicity. The typical appearance of a monk was good enough to instill respect in everyone.

Though beset with the infirmities of old age, the ten years at St. Xavier's saw him at intellectually creative work.

Being a writer, he has a number of published works to his credit. His works include his pastoral sermons, religious texts and plays based on the Bible. Some of them are written in English and some of them earned him national recognition as well. Among them "Scriptural Way of the Cross" and "Penitential Service" are noteworthy. The motto of a Jesuit is "learn, work and pray". This motto was the leading light right through Chackochan's life. Besides teaching, he had chosen the difficult and time consuming task of writing also as a part of his ministry. Thirty six years of religious life was one of hard work and prayer. By birth and culture he could boast of a rich tradition. However, his work reflected modern and progressive thoughts and ideas. His interest and knowledge in church affairs and the Vatican Decrees was truly amazing. Fr. George, CMI, of the family, reminisces the meetings and discussions he has had with Chackochan which went on for hours.

Fr. Chacko lived the life of fullness in Christ. To present him in the finest possible words, he was a caring shepherd. He loved God and loved his fellowmen.

As he neared his final days on earth, he was troubled by diseases of different kinds and was at hospital most of the time. On March 5, 1969, he died at Holy Cross Hospital, Murikkumpuzha. Till his death, he was the Patron of the Kudumbayogam. We cherish his memory with love and affection.
